

Rose Foundation for Communities and the Environment
Southeast Madera County Responsible Growth Fund
2009 Grants List

Dumna Cultural Resources Management

$20,000

Supports participation in a CEQA suit opposing two large developments in the Rio Mesa area that would add approximately 8,000 residential units and build four million square feet of commercial and mixed use structures with a footprint of 24,000 new residents in a currently completely undeveloped area. Located in southeastern Madera County near the San Joaquin River, Rio Mesa is the ancestral home of the Dumna Tribe.

Madera Oversight Coalition

$100,000

The Madera Oversight Coalition is community-based organization dedicated to encouraging responsible growth in Madera County. Funding supports participation in a CEQA suit opposing two large developments in the Rio Mesa area that would add approximately 8,000 residential units and build four million square feet of commercial and mixed use structures with a footprint of 24,000 new residents in a currently completely undeveloped area in southeastern Madera County near the San Joaquin River.

Revive the San Joaquin

$20,000

Supports participation in a CEQA suit opposing two large developments in the Rio Mesa area that would add approximately 8,000 residential units and build four million square feet of commercial and mixed use structures with a footprint of 24,000 new residents in a currently completely undeveloped area in southeastern Madera County near the San Joaquin River.

San Joaquin et al

$29,500

Supports monitoring of compliance and mitigation associated with projects approved in Madera County since 2000, using the California Public Records Act and the Freedom of Information Act to access documents to review and ensure that mitigation was completed and in compliance with state, local and federal law. Mitigations reviewed will include impact fees, in lieu fees, easements, and/or commitments to offsetting impacts to community services such as transportation, water, sewer, fire services, agricultural and natural resources. Reports of the status of mitigation implementation will be produced, and made publicly available.

San Joaquin River Parkway Trust

$12,500

Supports the development of a habitat protection plan for the San Joaquin River Parkway and Cottonwood Creek.